House of Lost Worlds-Richard Conniff

2016-04-12 This fascinating book tells the story of how one museum changed ideas about dinosaurs, dynasties, and even the story of life on earth. The Yale Peabody Museum of Natural History, now celebrating its 150th anniversary, has remade the way we see the world. Delving into the museum's storied and colorful past, award-winning author Richard Conniff introduces a cast of bold explorers, roughneck bone hunters, and visionary scientists. Some became famous for wresting Brontosaurus, Triceratops, and other dinosaurs from the earth, others pioneered the introduction of science education in North America, and still others rediscovered the long-buried glory of Machu Picchu. In this lively tale of events, achievements, and scandals from throughout the museum's history. Readers will encounter renowned paleontologist O. C. Marsh who engaged in ferocious combat with his "Bone Wars" rival Edward Drinker Cope, as well as dozens of other intriguing characters. Nearly 100 color images portray important figures in the Peabody's history and special objects from the museum's 13-million-item collections. For anyone with an interest in exploring, understanding, and protecting the natural world, this book will deliver abundant delights.

The Long-Lost Secret Diary Of The World's Worst Knight-Tim Collins

2021-02-02 These hilarious fictional diaries put us inside the heads of hapless figures from history. Meet Roderick - a scrawny, unremarkable teenager keeping a diary of his life in the Middle Ages. When he's chosen to become a knight on a quest to find a holy relic (the fingers of St Stephen), Roderick is determined to prove his honour and graduate from zero to hero. 'Get Real' fact boxes feature throughout, providing historical context and further information, as well as a timeline, historical biographies and a glossary in the end matter.

Bone Wars-Tom Rea 2004-04-01 Tom Rea traces the evolution of scientific thought regarding dinosaurs and reveals the deception, hostility, and sometimes outright aggression present in the early years of fossil hunting. This book details one of the most famous—and notorious—dinosaur skeletons ever discovered: Diplodocus carnegii, named after Andrew Carnegie.

The Dinosaur That Disappeared-Steve

Brezenoff 2013-07 James "Gum" Shoo and his friends are on a trip to the River City Natural History Museum, where they discover that a small dinosaur model and some chickens have both gone missing--and the four sixth-grade detectives promptly set out to discover who is behind the theft.

The Second Jurassic Dinosaur Rush-Paul D. Brinkman 2010-07-15 The so-called "Bone Wars" of the 1880s, which pitted Edward Drinker Cope against Othniel Charles Marsh in a frenzy of fossil collection and discovery, may have marked the introduction of dinosaurs to the American public, but the second Jurassic dinosaur rush, which took place around the turn of the twentieth century, brought the prehistoric beasts back to life. These later expeditions—which involved new competitors hailing from leading natural history museums in New York, Chicago, and Pittsburgh—yielded specimens that would be reconstructed into the colossal skeletons that thrill visitors today in museum halls across the country. Reconsidering the fossil speculation, the museum displays, and the media frenzy that ushered dinosaurs into the American public consciousness, Paul Brinkman takes us back to the birth of dinomania, the modern obsession with all things Jurassic. Featuring engaging and colorful personalities and motivations both altruistic and ignoble, The Second Jurassic Dinosaur Rush shows that these later expeditions were just as foundational—if not more so—to the establishment of paleontology and the budding collections of museums than the more famous Cope and Marsh treks. With adventure, intrigue, and rivalry, this is science at its most swashbuckling.

A Dinosaur's Got My Monkey!-Paul Breen 2013-01-24 A picture book for young kids about the chase to catch a Monkey-napping Dinosaur. Featuring Planes, Trains, Cars and more...

Visions of Lost Worlds-Matthew T. Carrano 2019-10-22 A lavish showcase of paleoartist Jay Matternes's spectacular murals and sketches For half a century, the artwork of Jay Matternes adorned the fossil halls of the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History. These treasured Matternes murals documenting mammal evolution over the past 56 million years and dioramas showing dinosaurs from the Mesozoic Era are significant works of one of the most influential paleoartists in history. Simultaneously epic in size and scope and minutely detailed, they also provide a window into the study and interpretation of vertebrate paleontology and paleoecology. Visions of Lost Worlds presents these unparalleled works of art, and also includes the sketches and drawings Matternes prepared as he planned the murals. Known for his technical genius and eye for detail, Matternes sketched from skeletons in museum collections and added muscle, skin, and fur to bring mammals and dinosaurs from prehistory to vivid life. This book offers a close look at these works of art, a peek inside the artist's process, and an examination of the works' impact and legacy.

The Dinosaur Fakers-Tim Rocks 2016-11-12 A nasty pair of pickpockets decide to move up in the world--- by faking a dinosaur skeleton!The nasty couple travel to the Badlands; create a scene at a small town banquet; take a Pullman car on their way to a big city museum; and have many more (nasty) adventures along the way. But will they pull off their scheme --- or end up back in the small time world of petty cons?Stylistically, the story is told in a mock picture book format, inspired by the line-art illustrations of the great Edward Gorey.

The Dinosaurs and Monsters Under Emily's Bed Have Gone!-Jessica Ashley 2014-09-11 Author Jessica Ashley writes books aimed at helping parents and their children address the common fears, anxieties and day-to-day situations all young children experience. In this book she looks particularly at a child's fear of the dark - and the imaginary creatures that inhabit it. As adults, we know there ARE no monsters, dinosaurs and ghosts - but try telling that to an impressionable young toddler or preschooler! Fact is that monsters, dinosaurs, ghosts - and going to bed in the dark - rank right up at number 1 or 2 in most lists of early childhood fears. Jessica makes no attempt to discredit - in the child's mind - the existence of these scary creatures. Rather, she helps her young readers - in a light-hearted and humorous way - to understand that a fear that's imagined into a child's mind... ... can also be imagined out of it! Here's an exerpt from the introduction to the book... Emily lives in a small apartment on the 27th floor of a tall apartment block... ... with her Mum and Dad... ... and her puppy, Yorky, and her kitten Ginger... Emily has her very own bedroom, and in the daytime, or when the light is still on, Emily's room is a happy, laughy, place. But at night, when the light is off, her room changes, and in the dark it becomes very, very scary! This is the story about how Emily got rid of the monsters and dinosaurs she was SURE lived under her bed at night... ... and how you can, too, if you're worried about them! Here is a book for young children afraid of the dark - and parents who want to help them. Get it now!
